

Vicki heard a noise outside her bedroom window as she was getting ready for bed. When she and dad went to investigate, they found a brushtail possum sitting at the base of a tree. It was bleeding and hurt – probably after being attached by a cat. Brushtail possums are common in the back yard. The family often hear them growling or running across the roof as they take a short cut between trees.

“We have to save him,” cried Vicki. Dad told her, “we won’t be able to save him if he runs away into the dark or up the tree.” But the possum sat quietly and let dad pick him up in a towel. Dad and the children drove to the Veterinarian who reassured them the possum would live after some treatment from him and care from the local possum carer. Vicki and dad had saved it’s life.

Listen to God! John 3:16-17

We are a bit like that possum. We have been wounded and hurt by sin. If we let him, Jesus will heal us and give us eternal life. But some people still run away from him. Have you let Jesus save you?
