

Someone sees everything

As the family sat around a camp fire at night they could hear the faint squeaking of bats that flew around catching insects attracted by the fire. But no matter how hard the children looked, they couldn't see these strange animals.

Vicki looked up the Australian mammal book and was interested by Little Mastiff bats that live in southern and central Australia. These bats are less than 6 centimetres long and can enter their nest (usually in the tree) through a hole no thicker than a man's thumb. Most bats live in colonies of 100s or even 1,000s but Little Mastiff bats usually live in groups of less than ten. Vicki knew that no matter how hard she looked, she would probably never see a Little Mastiff bat.

Listen to God! Psalm 139:3-12

There are many things in the world that we will never see. Only God can see everything. He saw us before we were even born. He knows everything we do and say (before we do and say it) and everywhere we go. There is nowhere we can go to get away from God.

Can you see the things that are hidden in the school room? Colour them in.

Binara the nosey frilled neck lizard wants to know what is good about God seeing us all the time (verse 10 will help you answer).

Talk to God!

Thank you Heavenly Father the you see everything. Thank you that you see when I'm happy, or sad, or lonely, or in trouble, or just need to know you love me.
