

Share what you have!

It was fun having lunch of fish and chips on the beach. Sean loved chasing the seagulls that came around. When he and the girls threw some bread and a few chips to the seagulls, they were surrounded by squawking, squabbling birds everywhere. Some of the seagulls fought each other for the food. They even chased away another seagull that only had one foot and pecked those that got in their way. Sometimes one would get a chip and fly off quickly followed by a bunch of others. They had absolutely no manners and had obviously never learnt to share!

Listen to God!

2 Corinthians 9:6-11

God promises that if we share what we have with others, we will never go without ourselves, By sharing, we not only make others happy, but we will be happy too.

In each rock pool, draw a crab, two shells, some sea weed and a fish so that each pool has equal shares - in other words, the same things in every pool.

Seagulls aren't very choosy about what they eat. Way out in the ocean they feed on plankton, or off scraps from fishing boats.

Along the seashore they eat seaweed, shellfish, crabs and dead fish and animals. They can even be found a long way from the sea eating scraps and rubbish in parks, paddocks or at garbage collections.

Talk to God!

Dear God thank you for all that you have given us. We have everything need. Help me to share what I have with others .
