

The eagle eye

“Stop the car,” shouted Vicki excitedly. “I can see a wedge tailed eagle on the side of the road up ahead.” “You’ve got good eyesight,” said mum. “It’s a bit far away for me to see clearly.” Everyone was impressed that Vicki had spotted the bird before it lifted it’s wings and flew off into the sky.

“Wedge tailed eagles are the largest raptor, or bird of prey, in Australia,” said dad. “Did you know that their wingspan is wider than my outstretched arms? That one was feeding on a kangaroo that had been killed by a car, but they also catch live animals like rabbits, birds, reptiles and small mammals. The wedge tailed eagle has amazing eyesight. Scientists believe it can see it’s prey up to 1.5 kilometres away!

Listen to God! Exodus 3:7-10

God saw that the Israelites were being treated badly in Egypt. He sent Moses to rescue them.

God sees everything that happens to us too. He can see everything and everyone all the time. God has the best eyesight of all.

Binara the nosey frilled neck lizard wants to know how God can see everything. Do you have any ideas?

Talk to God!

God, you are amazing. It’s great to know you can see everything. I know you not only see me when I’m happy but also when I’m in trouble, or sad, or scared. Thank you that you love me and watch over me.

How good is your eyesight?
Can you see what the eagle might find for lunch?
